

MOTTO AND DEDICATION

MOTTO:

“Some journeys take longer than expected, but every step forward is still a step closer to the dream.”

This thesis is sincerely dedicated to:

1. My respected Head of the English Education Study Program and first supervisor, Dr. Li. Bambang Ruby S, S.Pd.I., M.Pd., for his valuable guidance, patience, support, constructive suggestions, and continuous encouragement throughout my academic journey and the completion of this thesis. I am deeply grateful for every direction, opportunity, and assistance he has given me, particularly during the process of completing my study.
2. My respected second supervisor, Dedeh Rohayati, S.Pd., M.Pd., for her valuable guidance, thoughtful feedback, patience, corrections, and encouragement throughout the process of completing this thesis. Her suggestions and support have contributed greatly to the improvement of this study.
3. My beloved students, especially the fifth-grade students who participated in this research, for their enthusiasm, cooperation, support, and willingness to take part in every learning and research activity. Thank you for patiently following my instructions, participating in the storytelling and vocabulary activities, answering my questions, and helping me throughout the research process. My special gratitude goes to the students who willingly became the participants of this study and shared their experiences during the interviews. Without your cooperation and willingness to help, this research would not have been possible.
4. My beloved husband, who has always stood beside me throughout this long academic journey. Thank you for your patience, understanding, prayers, sacrifices, encouragement, and endless support, especially during the moments when I felt tired and overwhelmed. Your presence and support have given me strength to continue and complete what I started.
5. My beloved children, who are among the greatest reasons for me to keep moving forward and never give up. Thank you for your love, smiles, patience, and happiness that have always brought strength into my life. This achievement is also for you. I hope that one day you will understand that every struggle behind this thesis was part of my effort to become a better mother and a person you can be proud of.

6. My beloved parents and parents-in-law, for their endless love, sincere prayers, sacrifices, patience, and unconditional support. Their prayers have accompanied every step of this journey and have always been a source of strength during difficult moments. I am deeply grateful for everything they have done and continue to do for me.
7. My dear friends and colleagues, who have supported me throughout this academic journey. Thank you for the encouragement, advice, understanding, help, laughter, and companionship that made this journey feel less difficult. Whether through simple words, sincere prayers, or practical help, your support has meant so much to me.
8. Last but not least, to myself, Ina Trisnawati. Thank you for not giving up, even when this journey took longer and became more difficult than expected. Thank you for continuing to learn, work, teach, take care of your family, and return to finish what you once started. There were moments of exhaustion, doubt, fear, and uncertainty, but you chose to keep going. This thesis is not only an academic achievement, but also a reminder that taking longer does not mean failing. What matters is having the courage to continue until the journey is finally completed.
